

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE
Lexington, Virginia

GENERAL ORDER)
NUMBER 76)

28 September 2022

ANNUAL AWARDS PROGRAM POLICY

1. Purpose: The purpose of this order is to outline procedures for the approval and administration of annual awards given to cadets and selected faculty at the end of the academic year. This order also addresses VMI awards given on certain occasions to persons outside of VMI.
2. Background: Each year VMI hosts in May an Institute Awards Program. Top awards are presented to selected cadets for academic, military, and athletic achievement and to selected faculty and staff members for outstanding performance in teaching, research, and service. This is a formal event, conducted with great decorum, and is attended by the Corps of Cadets, faculty, staff, and friends of the Institute. In addition to those awards given at this ceremony, there are other award recognition programs, primarily for cadets, which take place at the end of the academic year. These ceremonies are conducted at the department or other levels. Examples include the Commandant's Awards, individual sport team awards, and academic department awards. Finally, on occasion, some organizations at VMI may recognize selected individuals, including some who are outside the VMI community.
3. Administration: Administrative oversight of the Institute Awards Program resides with the Deputy Superintendent for Academics and Dean of the Faculty. Administrative oversight of department and other awards below the Institute level rests with the heads of those individual units.
4. Institute Awards: The purpose of the annual May ceremony is to recognize those cadets and faculty/staff with awards that represent exemplary levels of achievement and service. Normally, only the top award in any given category is presented at the Institute Ceremony. The Superintendent approves the list of awards that are presented. In order to ensure that those awards remain significant and time constraints can be met, the following guidelines apply.
 - A. Awards are intended to recognize a cadet or employee for the highest level of achievement in a particular area. The purpose for an award should not be to simply recognize a specific donor, individual, alumnus/alumna, or class.
 - B. The criteria for each approved award should be distinct from other awards.
 - C. Awards that include a stipend or other monetary prize carry with them special responsibilities for the donors. It will be the responsibility of each proponent-donor to ensure that the specified award amount is provided each year. Such donors normally work with the VMI Foundation to establish and maintain the funding mechanisms. For non-monetary awards, such as plaques and statuettes, it is the responsibility of the award proponent to provide these to the Office of the Dean each year, according to a specified timeline.

In the interest of balance and emphasis, as new awards are approved, VMI retains the right to direct that awards previously given at the Institute Awards ceremony be given at a department or other level.

- D. VMI retains the right not to present a particular award in a given year.
5. Procedures for Proposing New Institute Awards: In addition to the directives contained above, proponents of a new award must abide by the following procedures.
- A. All requests must be submitted in writing to the Office of the Dean. The Dean will forward the proposal to the Superintendent with a recommendation regarding approval. The Superintendent's decision is final.
- B. Each request must fully delineate the following items
- i. Criteria – Established award criteria must be clear, concise, and collectively different from other awards. The attachment to this order contains a current list of awards along with their criteria.
 - ii. Name and Purpose – Each award must be appropriately named and a detailed purpose for the award must be provided. This will be the “source” document for an award that may be given for many years. Accordingly, the purpose and history behind a particular award is important to record.
 - iii. Selection Criteria –The proposal must describe in detail a reasonable, fair process for selecting award recipients, including selection committee membership and criteria for reviewing candidates. VMI retains the right to modify a proposed selection process at any time.
 - iv. Administration – Address issues affecting continuity, including responsible parties for providing material or monetary components of the award. It will be important to provide assurance that the award can be sustained in perpetuity. Provide an immediate point of contact for the award.
6. VMI Awards outside the Institute Awards Program: Authority to approve and administer Department-level or other unit awards to cadets or employees' rests normally with the Department or program head, unless otherwise specified. It will be the responsibility of the head to ensure that all such awards are in good taste and are presented in a setting appropriate for recognition by a unit of the Virginia Military Institute.
7. Awards Given to Non-VMI Personnel: Some Institute, VMI Foundation, Board of Visitors, and other awards are given to distinguished alumni and non-alumni. Additionally, some academic and other departmental awards are given to persons external to VMI. As these awards are intended to reflect the values of VMI, they are rightly considered “VMI awards.” In all such instances, the Superintendent must be notified in advance when an award of this kind is planned. The Superintendent must approve such an award before it is bestowed.
